Dear Ms. Crider,

I am responding to your letter to Mr. Clay Jones, dated March 12, 2012 from the Relieve Organization. Let me assure you that Rockwell Collins is committed to conducting our business with the highest standards of ethics and integrity. As you have pointed out, it is important to communicate our commitment to social responsibility publically and prominently. Accordingly, we publish our commitment to Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) (which includes our CSR Report) through our webpage (see link below)

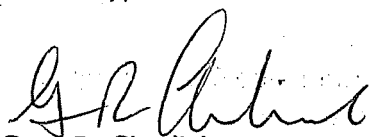

<http://www3.rockwellcollins.com/csr/>

We continuously review and evaluate our ethics and CSR content every year. Our commitment to global human rights is certainly part of this commitment and we will continue to enhance our website to prominently articulate and communicate that message.

In response to your letter, we have also taken steps, working with our new business leadership at Rockwell Collins Flight Services (formerly Air Routing), to further strengthen communication of our commitment to ethical business practices in the markets in which we do business. Finally, we will continue to reinforce our commitment to human rights through our business agreements and communications with our customers and suppliers.

We appreciate your communication on these important subjects. Thank you for your interest in Rockwell Collins and the mutual desire for the protection of global human rights.

Sincerely,

Gary R. Chadick
